DELAWARE COUNTY IOWA

The marriages from 1846 to 1860 are in volume XV.

Mrs. E. W. Williams, Mrs. Charlotte Yoran of Manchester, Iowa, worked on the marriages. Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Yoran, Mrs. Tracey, Mrs. A. C. Phillip and Miss Bailey worked on the grave records. Mrs. Ray S. Dix and Mrs. Arthur Lynn of Cedar Falls also worked.

The researcher should bear in mind the many ways of spelling of a name and should look for all possible spellings of it. Ex. Lebo, Libo; Landrum, Lendrum; Gebhart, Kephart; Dodd, Dodds; Cumford, Commerford.

The compiler has underlined certain letters when it was not possible to determine the correct letter intended. Ex. Borden a (Barden); Tamer nn (Tanner).

The asterisk * refers to a note in the margin or to a name in the column which may have been misplaced in the arranging.

Typists: Mrs. Lorraine West Tobias, Mrs. Willis Miller,
Atlantic, Iowa. 1937-1938

Checkers: Mts. Marjorie pardee Pigsley, Mrs. Tobias and Mrs. Miller.

NEWSPAPERS OF DELAWARE COUNTY

The Delhi Argus, started in 1853 by Datus Coon, afterward General Coon. The next year he sold the paper to G. W. Field, who sold it to Charles Hobbs in the fall of 1856. In 1858 Hobbs changed the name to Delhi Democrat, and enlarged it to seven columns. Other owners were Hayes & Corbett, Rev. Ashbaugh and Dr. James Wright. Later James Noble purchased an interest which he sold to J. L. McCreery. In 1859 or 1860 McCreery became sole owner and changed the name to The Delaware County Journal (republican) and published it until 1864 when he removed the plant to Dubuque. The material (probably sold to pay his debts) was sold to Edward Burnside, who moved it to Manchester and it became part of the Delaware County Union outfit.

• The Iowa News under Charles Hayes, existed at Delhi 1860-61.

The Earlville Sun was established 1871 by J. A. Cole. A few months later it was purchased by C. Sanborn, who moved it to Delhi and called it The Delaware County Recorder. In 1872 J. B. Swinburne bought it and published it until in the eighties as the Delhi Monitor.

The Delaware County Union under Edward Burnside got out its first issue in Manchester March 25, 1864. After Mr. Burnside's death in 1866, the paper passed into the hands of L. L. Ayer. It was the official organ of the republican party. When it was forced to quit in 1872 the list and plant were divided between J. B. Swinburne of the Delhi Monitor and The Manchester Press, which had been started in June 1871 by H. L. Rann, who sold it to C. Sanborn in 1874 but bought it back in 1876 and published it until his death in 1897, when he was succeeded by his son.

The Nottingham Observer had been published in Earlville for six months in 1859. Ed Stanton, owner.

The Earlville Gazette was established in 1875 and changed to The Commercial in 1876. It lasted about a year.

The Earlville Record was started in 1877 but did not last long.

NEWSPAPERS OF DELAWARE COUNTY

The Earlville Graphic was founded by C. S. Barre in 1882 and after its plant was destroyed in the big fire of 1887 it rose from the ashes as the Earlville Phoenix, which was published under various owners until November, 1894, when it was bought by J. B. Swinburne and five papers were printed at the Phoenix plant and had a wide circulation as The Colesburg Clipper, The Delhi Monitor and The Greeley Graphic.

The Worthington Watchman and the Phoenix, which was sold in 1901 to R. V. Lucas, and in 1905 to Cloud & Rogers, and in 1909 to Albert Voit, who took in Rogers as a partner in 1914. Later sold to Snyder.

The Greeley Home Press established in 1897 by Victor Dow.

The Ryan Reporter established in 1899 by E. F. Coakley.

The Hopkinton Leader, started in 1888. W. S. Beels was owner for many years. Since his death L. Sullivan is the editor.

The Manchester Democrat was started in 1875 by F. B. Gregg. After a few months it was sold to a company with L. L. Ayers as editor. Charles E. Bronson and E. M. Carr purchased the paper in 1878 and they and their sons continued it until 1912 when Henry Bronson sold his interest to Wade Long and Fred Herman. Mr. Long afterward sold out his interest. A few years ago the Democrat-Radio and Press merged and are printed in the Press building.

The Delaware County News, republican, was printed in Manchester from 189- to 191-, D. H. Young, editor several years.

The Herald was a small but newsy paper started by the boy Joe McCormick and afterwards sold to Clarence Dittmer, another boy. After fitting these two young men for their life work it was sold to Merton Cox (?) and afterward discontinued.

NEWSPAPERS OF DELAWARE COUNTY

The Delaware County Radio was started in Manchester in 192-. Afterward under Will Snyder it merged with Press and Democrat. (About 1930)

The Delaware County Teacher was published by the Superintendent of Schools of the county for a number of years. Probably began in the nineties and was continued as means of giving information to the teachers.

In the case of the county papers previously mentioned they were so-called newspapers, though up to the seventies they are mostly taken up with rancorous politics, for which purpose some of them came into being, and with patent medicine advertisements for all sorts of panaceas and the views of the editor rather than real news. In the sixties the business houses of the time begin to have many and interesting advertisements, which have continued unto the present day.

In the seventies a new feature was beginning—that of correspondence from some of the townships. This gradually grew until the country correspondence was a large part of the paper as it is today.

I do not know how complete files of all the small and shortlived papers may be found at the courthouse but the Manchester Press and Manchester Democrat have bound copies on file at the court house practically complete from their beginning. These files are accessible to responsible and careful persons.

Most of the newspapers mentioned were weekly, though at one time the Delaware County News tried to get out as a daily or several times in a week. I do not know the date except that it was about the time that Cummins was so active in politics and there was a split in the republican party which seemed to demand two papers. The Press was a stand-pat republican. The News finally failed.

During the first decades only the most important weddings or deaths were mentioned and then only with a few lines but toward the latter part of the century more attention was given to these things and the files of the Press and Democrat furnish good material along those lines. For some time the Press published valuable historical data in its "Way Back When" and other columns and some series of historic articles but of late they have not troubled to be authentic and considerable material has been published which was unreliable.

DIARIES

George W. Dunham of this city has one written by his father in the fifties and sixties and Mrs. Clifford Ryan has one written about the same time by Allen Mead.

CHURCH RECORDS

Church records, unless lost or destroyed, are usually in the hands of the church clerks. There is also much about them in the Delaware County histories. The Civil War account is also quite complete in the histories.

The above records were compiled by Miss Belle Bailey, 216 E. Gay Street, Manchester, Iowa.
